

INTRODUCTION

Agatha has just moved in the village of Carsely. By pure chance, she sees her ex-lover again. Seeing that he turned the page, Agatha taken with jealousy develops a sneaky idea.

One sunny morning, in a village called Carsely, a woman named Agatha arrived. When she arrived, she was quickly appreciated, even by her new neighbors, but to her surprise, her neighbor across the street turned out to be her ex-lover, whom she had not seen for a while. One unexpected afternoon, Mrs. Cummings Browne, the neighbor, arrives at her house to welcome her to the village by bringing her a snack. As a result of this meeting, they become best friends and see each other more frequently. One rainy afternoon, seeing Agatha alone, Mrs. Cummings Browne invited her to her home for dinner. Upon arriving at their home, Agatha meets their very dear son, Chris and his girlfriend Amanda. They start to eat right away. While distributing the food, Mr. Cummings Browne arrived. When he saw Agatha, he was briefly stunned, but when he heard his wife's name, he recovered.

Mrs. Cummings Browne, all joyful, - "Hello, My Love. What are you waiting for? Come and sit at the table and meet my New Friend."

Mr. Cummings Browne, wandering in his thoughts, - "... Yes yes My Dear, I'm coming "

He will join them at the table. They were talking about everything and anything when Chris suddenly said to him : "You are really sublime Madam. I wonder how it is that you are always alone... Don't you have a husband ? "

Agatha, smiling, - "Well, once I was engaged. I was madly in love with him but unfortunately he left me and moved away and since then I am alone..."
